Judging Criteria

Quantitative judging: The criteria for judging is based on highest Commission for all categories except Residential Salesperson and Residential Office categories which have both a highest gross Commission category and a highest Sales Volume category, in which case the Sales Volume will be the main judging criteria.

Qualitative judging: The Manager, Office Administrator, RPM Business Development Manager, Personal Assistant, Multi-Media Marketing, Innovation, and Community Service Awards are based on submitted answers to a series of questions.

A panel of independent judges will separately score each nomination based on the criteria in the respective award category.

The marked-up nominations will then be shared with the remaining panel members to ensure consistency of thinking, eliminate an unconscious bias and initiate any conversation around the entries.

Once initial scoring has taken place, any nominations that reach or exceed the 50% average score across all judges will proceed to the qualitative round. At this point the numerical scoring for each award will be put to the side and the panel of judges will determine a winner for each category following a discussion of all the strengths and weaknesses of each entry until an agreement is reached.

Should the judging panel be unable to reach a unanimous decision and determine a single winner, the nominations on the short-list and all the information in relation to those entries will be provided to the Chief Judge who will determine the winner.

Quantitative & Qualitative judging: The Residential Property Management awards are judged on a series of key performance indicators and a short-written answer.

Judging Criteria for Property Management Individual and Office Awards

The awards are based on performance and ranking over several key performance indicators within residential property management.

The criteria for judging Residential Property Management Office of the Year, Residential Property Manager Rising Star of the Year, and Residential Property Manager of the Year awards are based on the following five categories:

1. Income

Highest total income for an agency, Office or individual.

The Office is defined as a single legal entity. The income from multiple legal entities, even if the parent owns 100% of the shareholding in the subsidiaries, and all companies operate from the same site, may not be combined.

Income totals must be from residential property management only – including but not limited to, management fees letting, inspection, and disbursement fees etc.

Income total shall exclude any monies collected as a cost recovery.

Income from other business streams such as residential sales must be excluded.

2. Growth

Greatest net growth of properties under management by an agency, Office or individual.

Net growth of properties is based on the number of managements brought in by the Property Manager during the competition period minus any losses.

A management is counted from the date a completed and signed Management Authority has been received and entered into the property management software/record keeping system. To qualify, there must be an individual tenancy agreement along with a separate inspection report.

New managements gained must be by organic growth and not obtained via a purchase of a rental, merger or restructure.

A management is counted as one management per property.

A lost management is counted at the expiry of the notice period received from the investor and/or their new agent or on the settlement date in the case where a property has been sold and the property is no longer being managed.

When a property is no longer being managed – even if there is a debt still attached to the property – it is counted as a loss.

This is taken from either the date the bond has been disbursed or the date of the Tribunal/Mediated Order (if no bond held and/or the property is made inactive in your property management software/record keeping system).

Casual lets are excluded from these awards and must not be counted in new management figures.

Holiday rentals are excluded from these awards.

Boarding houses are allowed – counted as one management with the owner but tenancy on a room by room or unit basis.

Each tenancy must have an individual tenancy agreement along with a separate inspection report.

3. Managed Lets

The highest number of managed properties let by an agency, Office or individual.

Includes placing tenants in both new and current managements but does not include resigning an existing fixed term tenancy.

A managed let is counted from the date the tenancy starts.

Each managed let must be allocated to the person that let the property – not to the portfolio manager.

Casual lets are excluded from these awards and must not be included with the managed let figures.

Holiday rental lets are excluded from these awards.

Managed lets for boarding houses are allowed – counted as one management with the owner but lets on a room by room or unit basis.

4. Arrears

The average lowest percentage number of tenants in arrears by 7 days and over for an agency, Office or individual.

Rent arrears equates to the rent owing on current tenancies only. Anything else comes under debt collection.

5. Vacancy

The lowest average percentage number of vacant managed properties that were available for rent by the agency, Office or individual.

A new management is counted as a vacancy if available for rent – i.e. it is not counted if the owner is still residing in the property or there is work to be carried out and it is not being actively advertised or there is a vacating tenant still residing in the property.
